IDOL OF THE SUN God of Luck

Intricately carved from a semi-precious stone found at the base of the Pyramid known as "Sun of God." Legend has it that this small primitive idol rules all games of chance, and has the power to bring good luck, prosperity and happiness to the wearer. It is also said to be the Patron God of the crops and harvest. This carved idol on chain makes an attractive necklace for the ladies. Key chain for the men. $2.00 P.P. Please state which you desire.

PENDULUMS

OF RARE EXOTIC WOOD FROM THE
NEAR AND FAR EAST

MYRTLEWOOD from the Holy Land. SIAMESE VERMILLION, from Siam. ORIENTAL MAHOGANY, from China. Also OAK which alone is sacred to Sagittarius. These may be used by Mystic and Layman alike and have proven amazingly accurate.

Usually clockwise is an affirmative answer, counter clockwise negative, horizontal doubtful. However since each persons vibrations are different it is wise to determine for oneself by holding pendulum over the hand and asking the question. After this is established it will not change. Remember the type of answer depends upon your attitude. Sincerity brings a sincere answer. Like attracts like. Price $2.00 P.P. State which kind you prefer.

SANDALWOOD PENDULUM

From the heart of mystic India we bring you an authentic re-creation of an ancient Oracle pendulum, hand-crafted of fragrant polished Sandalwood with gleaming Ivory tip and Ivory screw top concealing secret receptacle. 437 JOHN ST. BRIDGEPORT 3, CONN

Jill arrived on the post of duty five minutes early (for a change) with her face, hands, and feet numb. In a pre-dawn gloom, only outlines were visible as she reached for the door knob, and the still January cold caused need for any shelter; even the dark, deserted one of the post on first watch open, at 0600 Sunday A.M. She beat her hands together before removing her woolen mittens. When feeling began coursing through them again, she phoned Filter Station and reported "on duty".

"Ah! Now I can struggle with the oil heater!" she thought. On her way to the rickety little hope of heat, she reached over the desk and turned the infra-red light on, and signed the attendance pad beside it. Before the entire wick was lit on the heater, her glance was caught (through the many-windowed wall) by what appeared to be a landing light on a plane far to the north-east. Jill released her grip on the heater top and let it slam by gravity. Without wondering why, she raced for the open roof outside the post door. Some urgency in her being dictated that no window frames outline or obstruct the entirety of what was happening.

With her face washed in the first rays of dawn, Jill stood as though hypnotized, facing that single glow in the sky as it changed from a bright spot about five inches in diameter to a huge pulsating thing of circular outline, with a soft halo (extending many feet in width) encircling the entire object like a rainbow tinted velvet ribbon of changeable hue circling a giant cylinder. The brilliance of the unusually sharp green, red, orange, and yellow colors of the object dazzled her. While she watched a point form in the center of the sphere of splendor, (no more than eight hundred feet away from her statue-still self, and barely five hundred feet above the roof tops) she felt a sudden shock of heat in her forehead, her chest (directly between her breasts) and her solar plexus at the waist line. It was not at all like getting warmed by the heater. There was the strength of molten metal in the sensation, and it penetrated her body as metal would if it had been poured on; but no pain accompanied it. The soft thrill which swept Jill was like nothing else she had ever experienced. It left her completely powerless to move a muscle toward the phone to report an "unknown object" sighted until the object was once again a five inch circular torch of pale shimmering amber three or four miles away, and many miles high. The approach and retreat both happened with such great speed, it was as though she had seen an object magnify itself and, after three seconds of suspended brilliance in full glory, shrink to the original size again. The sense of movement was all around Jill, and she had no more conscious concept of her being than as a part of what was happening. Inside the post again, she found it possible to reach the phone only by mounting a wobbling chair beside the diminishing desk. Jill still nursed the soft palpitating thrill in her breast, and gazed blankly at the bright gleam in a far-away northeastern sky with Heaven in her heart. Words which did not seem to come from her mouth at all were spoken into the mouthpiece of the telephone to report the UNKNOWN.

SPACENAP

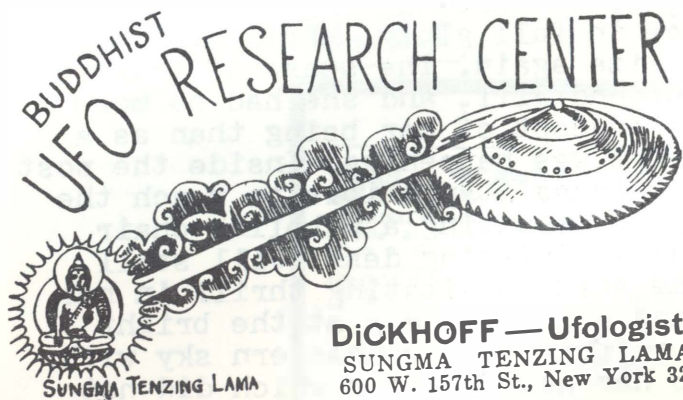

by Sungma Tenzing Lama

Saucers come flying
From way upon high,
Humans are dying,
You can hear them cry

You do not believe this,
It seems weird to you,
Until for their bliss
You become soupmeat or stew

Them aliens in Saucers
They love to 'Serve You'
Like heavenly meatballs,
With spaghetti or stew

I give out this warning,
Do not take that ride,
With three-eyed star aliens
Too close by your side

They spacenap by thousands
Good earthlings for food,
These unwholesome gourmets
Have come here to loot

Star Vikings from space,
How sweet they can lie,
Came 'saving' your race,
But select humans to die

Not that it matters,
If ingredients you be
For galactic space aliens
On a cosmic high sea

But darn this dumb cussedness,
Of humans, who claim,
There is no such wickedness
In heavens great name!

— Seen by sixty thousand witnesses!

by

M. Alexander

THERE HAVE BEEN so many claimants to have been one of the few who have actually spoken to, or seen, visitants from other planets that it has now become an almost impossible task to sieve the cinders of fact from the fire of fiction.

Nearly all contemporary readers are well aware of the many incidents recorded in the Bible and history books that bear an almost exact relationship to present-day recordings of UFOs. But how many are aware of the greatest of all the recordings? A recording that no one can dispute, for the facts are there, word for word, of an actual landing and appearance—be it objective or subjective.

I refer here to "Our Lady of Fatima."

This is an extract from "The Annals of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart"—an Australian Catholic publication. (Vol. 65, Nos. 10 and 11, October and November, 1954):

"On October 13, 1917, therefore, a pouring wet day, between 60 and 70 thousand people of all classes, believers and unbelievers alike, went to the Cova da Iria with the children. Atheists and mockers were among the crowd, together with the journalists sent from Lisbon to represent the leading Portuguese newspapers.

"There, suddenly, at 2 p.m., the crowd saw what appeared to be the sun come down through the clouds. It rotated three times for about four minutes each time, radiating various coloured lights and intense heat, although it was not too bright for the people to gaze directly at it. Some described it afterwards as a silvery disc. After about twelve minutes the disc appeared to move back to its normal place in the sky, where it resumed its usual brilliance so that people could no longer look directly at it."

That is an extract from issue No. 10. Now for No. 11:

VIBOR AND VITALITY AFTER 40 TRY WORLD FAMOUS PEGA PALO.
90 DAY SUPPLY $15.00, VALUE PRODUCTS, BOX 64-FSN
BROOKLYN 25, NEW YORK

"At Fatima, on October 13, 1917, the day was wet and dull. The sun had not appeared all morning, and the people who went there stood in the pouring rain. At 2 p.m., the thousands of people present, or at least the vast majority of them, saw the clouds suddenly part, showing the clear blue sky beyond them. They looked up and the sun appeared like a pale disc, not dazzling at all. One English Protestant woman present said it looked like stainless steel. Others said rather like silver; others again, like mother-of-pearl. All agreed that it was no strain at all upon the eyes to look at it.

"Suddenly the pale disc appeared to detach itself from the sky, come down through the break in the clouds and go through an extraordinary series of movements, radiating the most variously coloured beams of light, three separate times of four minutes each.

"In a letter dated December 15, 1949, Mr. Harley Wood, Government Astronomer of N.S.W., Australia, wrote in response to the request put to him:

'In reply to your letter of December 12, I have no record of any astronomical event which would fit the description you give. It sounds rather like a highly fanciful description of a total eclipse of the sun, but there was no total eclipse of the sun in that year (1917).'

"The only reasonable conclusion from that letter is that, whatever happened at Fatima, we must rule out any merely natural explanation of it as a total eclipse of the sun. It in no way proves that the events reported at Fatima did not occur. As a matter of fact, had the astronomers recorded a total eclipse of the sun on that day, it would play right into the hands of unbelievers, who would have said that between 60 and 70 thousand fools at Fatima had mistaken an ordinary eclipse for a miraculous heavenly manifestation. Sceptics, therefore, are at least robbed of that explanation.

"It is quite certain that, on October 13, 1917, the actual sun in no way altered its position in relation to the earth. It did not leave its place in the sky, travel the 93,000,000 miles to this earth, and come through the clouds at Fatima in order to manifest itself to the 60 or 70 thousand people there. It is absolutely sure that these people did not see a body 864,000 miles in diameter, over 100 times the diameter of the earth itself. All that one can say is that God caused to appear before their very eyes the phenomenon they witnessed; and He did so miraculously in a way humanly inexplicable. The fact cannot reasonably be disputed, however different may be the conclusions of different people concerning its implications."

But perhaps this is not conclusive enough. Let us then turn to a publication titled "More About Fatima," by Rev. V. Montes de Oca, C.S.Sp., published by Messrs. M. H. Gill & Sons Ltd., of Dublin, in 1945:

Wonderful Sighting Report

"The crowd prays all the time. . . . Suddenly cries of surprise and joy are heard.

"Thousands of arms are raised towards a point in the sky.

'Look! There She is.'

'She is here, down there.'

'Do you see?' 'Oh, I see.'

"To my great surprise, I see clearly and distinctly, a globe of light advancing from east to west, gliding slowly and majestically through the air.

"... from the limpid and cloudless sky there began to rain upon those present a shower, as it were, of white flowers, which on coming near the earth vanished without touching it.

"My friend, full of enthusiasm, went from group to group. . . . asking the people what they had seen. The persons asked came from the most varied social classes, and all unanimously affirmed the reality of the phenomena which we ourselves had observed."

Page 40. "Suddenly the sun trembles, is shaken, makes some abrupt movements, and finally begins to turn giddily on itself like a wheel of fire, casting in all directions, like an enormous lamp, great beams of light. These beams are in turn green, red, blue, violet, etc."

Page 46. Dr. Almeida Garrete, Professor at the University of Coimbra, writes:

"I was at a distance of little more than a hundred yards away. The rain was pouring down on our heads and, streaming down our clothes, soaked them completely. At last it came along to 2 o'clock, p.m. (official time—really corresponding to noon, solar time). Some instants previously, the radiant sun had pierced the thick curtain of clouds which held it veiled. All eyes were raised towards it as if drawn by a magnet. I myself tried to look straight at it, and saw it looking like a well-defined disc, bright but not blinding. I heard people around me comparing it to a dull silver plate. The comparison did not seem to me exact. Its appearance was of a sharp and changing clarity, like the 'Orient' of a pearl. It did not resemble in any way the moon on a fine night. It had neither its colour nor its shadows. You might compare it rather to a polished wheel cut in the silvery valves of a shell. This is not poetry, I saw it thus with my own eyes.

"Neither would you confuse it with the sun seen through a fog. Of fog there was no trace, and besides, the solar disc was neither blurred nor veiled in any way, but shone clearly at its centre and at its circumference.

"This chequered shining disc seemed to possess a giddy motion. It was not the twinkling of a star. It turned on itself with an astonishing rapidity."

A Perfect Description

Here, then, is the story, in brief of a great saucer sighting—with thousands of witnesses. The whole story behind the religious aspect of Fatima must be read in full. The three children who predicted the appearance of the UFO, and the apparitions they saw in connection with it.

Their story I have deliberately left out of this article because it may, at first, only confuse the issue. The main thing is the object as seen and reported in the sky.

In every book written on UFOs there are descriptions that tally perfectly with the descriptions of those as written in every publication on Fatima.

How perfectly, for example, are the words printed in FLYING SAUCER REVIEW, Vol. 3, No. 5, page 4:

"Witnesses said that it was caused by a luminous ball, 'as big as the sun,' which flew over Arapuey."

One could go on and on quoting from the Bible, from history books, from "information received." But where could one find such a confirmed example as Fatima? An example that was so great that it became a religious event.

On the events that actually took place before this sighting one only has the information as given by the three children, Jacinta Marto, aged seven; Francis, her brother, aged nine; and their cousin, Lucy dos Santos, aged ten. None of whom could read or write.

If they actually did see and speak to a person connected with this UFO, then here we have the supreme report of an actual landing, and visitors from another planet walking this earth.

The other brother - ERNEST - was "Ernest-About-Art" and he continued to say so in no uncertain terms.

FRANKLY SPEAKING, again, you could tell by the way Frank's mustache bristled, that HE WAS AN EXTRAVERT; and you could see - by the way Ernest was always a step behind that.. FACTS ABOUT UNIDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECTS ("Flying Saucers")

— Published by the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena —

This official flying-disc (or "flying saucer") see our front cover illustration—is taken from an Air Force Intelligence Manual, AFM 20 0-3, Chapter 9, page 3.

the National Investigations Committee

THE huge disc approaching the Air Force bomber (front cover) closely resembles UFOs officially reported by AF, Navy and airline pilots. It is not known whether the illustration was drawn from actual photographs or from pilots' detailed reports—but detailed photos are known to be in existence. (In 1956, after a Navy transport's close encounter with a giant disc over the Atlantic, the pilot—a Navy commander—was shown a folder of UFO photographs, one identical with the enormous craft he and his crew had seen in a head-on approach.)

NICAP does not offer this Air Force illustration as proof of an actual UFO "pass" at a bomber. But it is obvious that

AF Intelligence did seriously contemplate encounters with such superior machines—large discs or "saucers"—as far back as 1953, when AFM 200-3 was prepared for the private use of Intelligence officers.

DISCOVERY of this official flying-disc illustration raises several questions. Why should AF Intelligence, in this long-hidden manual, indicate a possible "technological surprise" by flying saucers—after publicly denying that such things existed? How can such an official illustration be explained when the Air Force insists "it is still impossible to develop a picture of what a flying saucer is?" This denial appears in AF Project Blue Book Special Report 14, p. 93, as follows:

"It is not possible to derive a verified model of a flying saucer... This point is important enough to emphasize... Out of 4,000 people who said they saw flying saucers, sufficiently detailed descriptions were given in only 12 cases. Having culled the cream of the crop, it is still impossible to develop a picture of what a flying saucer is."

Despite these denials, repeated from Oct. 25, 1955 to date, Air Force Intelligence DID "DEVELOP A PICTURE OF WHAT A FLYING SAUCER IS"—and used it for a secret warning against technological surprise.

WE agree the AF was wise to consider a possible surprise attack, though the UFOs have shown no hostile intent. Probably AF Intelligence also has considered the chance of peaceful UFO approaches, for observation or communication attempts. But with factual UFO information restricted to Intelligence officers, unprepared pilots and gunners might mistake a friendly approach for an attack and open fire without waiting. To reduce this risk, we believe the hidden Intelligence information—including UFO photographs and drawings—should be given to pilots and crews of all military aircraft.

THE FOLLOWING REPORT
"PROJECT SAUCER TO PROJECT GRUDGE"

BY reviewing the past sometimes it makes it easier to understand the present and predict the future. Between April 27 and December 27 in

FLYING SAUCER NEWS

1949 something happened to make Air Force Intelligence change its UFO project (investigation of 'flying saucers') from "Project Saucer" to "Project Grudge", and return to the "Dark Ages" in its UFO investigations.

All of a sudden, trained pilots and Air Force personnel were reported to have chased only lighted weather balloons (which were able to travel at variable speeds and maneuver intelligently), to have encountered a comet or bolide (which had windows, maneuvered to avoid hitting them, and took one hour to travel from Macon, Georgia to Montgomery, Alabama), to have chased the Planet Venus in broad daylight (when it appeared to be of tremendous size, instead of a pin point of light in the night sky), to have seen balloons circling at speeds 300 to 400 miles per hour (which balloons can't do in the first place, not to mention the fact that if balloons could circle at such speeds at 8,000 feet the wind at ground level would have blown the eyewitnesses and Muroc Air Force Base right off the map). Why did the Air Force issue such explanations for key UFO sightings?

Bear with me as we unlock the secret behind such a policy. Prior to 1949 Air Force Intelligence in 1947 had concluded that the 'flying saucers' were real. From 1943 through 1948 the Air Force was greatly worried over UFO interference with planes over Arizona, Iwo Jima, Florida, Washington State, New Jersey, Kentucky, Alabama, North Dakota, California, India, etc. In some cases such interference had resulted in the loss of some of our best planes & pilots.

IN 1948 a top secret ATIC conclusion stated that the UFOs were spaceships. On April 14, 1949 Mr. Charles B. Moore, while tracking balloons with a theodolite near White Sands, New Mexico tracked a UFO, about 100 feet in diameter, at an altitude of over 50 miles and traveling 18,000 miles per hour.

On May 14, 1949 the Air Force obtained movies of three disks flying in formation over the Air Force Base at Stephenville, Newfoundland.

On October 12, 1949 came many reports of "Captured

Saucers" in New Mexico, Arizona, and Colorado.

In December, 1949 Air Force jets fired on UFOs over New Jersey, confirmed by Major Jeremiah Boggs in U.S. Air Force Intelligence. These were attempts to bring down UFOs for closer examination.

On December 9, 1949, the noted Japanese Astronomer, Tsuneo Saheki, who has specialized in observing Mars since 1933, was at his telescope when suddenly he saw a gigantic explosion on the Red Planet. It caused a brilliant glow for several minutes, which was followed by a luminous yellow-greyish cloud, estimated at 40 miles high and 700 miles in diameter. Saheki ruled out all other explanations and stated: "It was undoubtedly an artificial Atomic explosion... even more powerful than the H-Bomb... that could only have been set off by highly advanced beings.

On December 27, 1949, in the face of and in direct contradiction to the April, 1949 "Project Saucer" report, the Air Force made the following release: "Evaluation of the reports of Unidentified Flying Objects demonstrates no direct threat to the national security of the United States. 'Project Saucer' is now discontinued... having explained away all reports." It failed entirely to mention that in its place "Project Grudge" had been organized.

A follow up on this sequel shows that in 1950 an Air Force Intelligence Analysis showed that UFOs employed "Controlled Maneuvers" and re-affirmed that 'flying saucers' were real and were spaceships.

On December 30, 1949 'Project Grudge' reported that because of our nuclear bomb and space-rocket tests we are likely, at this time above all, to be observed by space visitors concerned over possible aggression by earth races."

Ten years later, on December 24, 1959 a TIG Brief to all Operations and Training Commands by Major General Richard E. O'Keefe, Acting Inspector General, warned that UFO sightings would increase. The TIG Brief was headed "UFOs-SERIOUS BUSINESS". Why? after telling the public that these "Unidentified Flying Objects" (Air Force Name for

'Flying Saucers') do not exist for over 13 years.

It is my belief that the Air Force is afraid of releasing the truth about UFOs for fear of PUBLIC PANIC. After all, it was in 1938, only almost 24 years ago, that Orsen Wells did the same thing with his famous "Martian Invasion" Broadcast, which brought people screaming from their homes.

This is probably why the "Mars Committee" hasn't made many reports in recent years, despite the great deal of study that is being carried on worldwide of the Red Planet.

Mars is a mystery planet and those mystery explosions, mystery lights, mystery clouds, mystery geometric figures, mystery canals, mystery satellites, mystery radio signals, mystery polar caps, mystery flying objects may well be the key to the solution of the large increase of mysterious Unidentified Flying Objects, that are reported each time that the Red Planet comes in opposition to our own. Many unusual things are beginning to happen on our Moon also.

I believe that the American public and the rest of the world has a right to know the facts and can bear up to the truth when and if it is finally revealed. Not to be told these facts would result I am sure is greater disaster. An accidental World War III, false enemy propaganda claims, utter confusion could be the end results of such a secrecy policy. Fear of PANIC is one of the risks we must face.

RECENTLY the Brookings Institution for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration concluded a one-year study of the effect that the discovery of intelligent space beings might have on the public. Public realization that intelligent beings live on other planets could bring about profound changes, or even the collapse of our civilization, the research report stated.

This fear of "possible space life" is very similar to one that needs to be faced about the UFO problem. Fear of public reaction to an admission of UFO reality was cited in the early years of the Air Force investigation.

America should be prepared to meet the psychological impact of such a revelation, either of the discovery of intelligent space beings, or of the admission of UFO reality, or better still, a future announcement of both, which could occur any day now.

The truth will help us better prepare for our reaction. That is why I strongly believe in 1962 that "open hearings" should and will be held on the UFO situation in the very near future. We have no better course to follow. The risks are great, but the world must and will courageously accept the challenge. To do less would be to court an even greater disaster. Now we know why 'Project Saucer' was changed to 'Project Grudge' in 1949. This should help us to better understand 'with reason and not emotion' the situation we in 1962 are about to encounter. Sure 'flying saucers' are real and so is 'intelligent life' on other planets and both are related. What does this all mean to us today?

From the standpoint of religion, could these be the signs, the "other sheep of His Flock", the "Many Mansions", that Jesus spoke of throughout the Holy Scriptures?

ONE thing is certain, "WE Are Not Alone" in the Universe, & now, even before we have 'one world' we are already talking of 'many worlds' in space. It's an interesting age in which to live today and a very difficult one also. Many things are beginning to happen on Earth and the heavens that surround us in the vastness of the Universe. "WATCH & PRAY" ARE KEY WORDS FOR TODAY!
